

One night, Buzz and Bingo were walking in the forest. They came to a sign that said: "This way to the Monster Party."

Under it, in smaller letters, it said: "To get to the Monster Party, you must find your way through the Monster Maze."

"A Monster Maze!" said Buzz. "We're not afraid, are we, Bingo? And we love parties."

"Woof," said Bingo, very quietly. He didn't like the sound of monsters at all.

"There's a full moon, so we'll be able to see where we're going," said Buzz. "Come on, Bingo."

Buzz walked into the Monster Maze and Bingo hid behind him.

They hadn't got very far when something flapped in front of them. It was a man in a black cape. He had a white face, red eyes and two very sharp fangs.

Bingo shivered.

